

Conceptual changes in the Civics syllabi in the National Curriculum

In 2000 the Ministry of Education launched a project for redesigning the Civics syllabi in the National Curriculum. The result of the project was renewing the syllabi of Civics by incorporating in larger extent the essence of active teaching ideas into it, making the previously rather theoretical subject much more practical and attractive. The document, which is now obligatory for teaching Civics in the compulsory schools, is available in Estonian.
